RESPONSIBLE JEWELLERY COUNCIL ANNOUNCES SIXTH CERTIFIED MEMBER

LONDON – The Responsible Jewellery Council (RJC) today announced that Fred Meyer Jewelers and Littman Jewelers, the third largest fine jewellery retailer in the United States, has achieved certification against the ethical, human rights, social and environmental standards as established by the RJC's Member Certification System.

The successful verification assessment of Fred Meyer Jewelers and Littman Jewelers was conducted by Specialized Technology Resources, Inc. (STR), the first independent third party auditing firm accredited to the RJC's Member Certification System.

"The RJC congratulates Fred Meyer Jewelers and Littman Jewelers on becoming the first RJC retail member solely trading in the USA to be certified. They are to be commended for the commitment and dispatch in achieving their certification status. Joining RJC in mid-2009, they took RJC's certification goal across the breadth of their retail operation as a top-line priority," says Michael Rae, RJC's Chief Executive Officer.

"We are most proud to have achieved this important certification. Safeguarding consumer confidence in jewellery products in the United States and worldwide ensures the continued success of our entire industry. Our team worked hard with our suppliers and we are most grateful to Sean Murray, our Sustainable Supply Chain Specialist and Chris Coleman, our Director of Central Memo, Reclamation and Diamond Room, for their invaluable support to accomplish the RJC Certification," says Peter Engel, President, Fred Meyer Jewelers and Littman Jewelers.

"RJC Certified Members have the recognizable benefit of belonging to an international certification system. Their reputations are solidly supported and the ultimate benefit is the enhancement of the jewellery supply chain," says Mr. Rae.
